COOLIDGE MAY SPEAK HERE AT TOMB SERVICES

Harding Memorial Official Announces Plan for Dedication of Shrine DEFINITE DATE NOT SET
Event Will Probably Be Held on July 4 or Aug. 2 Next Year
Dedication of the Harding tomb will not take place until next year, probably on July 4 or on Aug. 2, anniversary date of President Harding's death.
This was indicated today in information coming from an official of the Harding Memorial Association, who also stated that it is all probable that the dedication address will be delivered by President Coolidge.
The original plan was to complete the tomb by November of this year and to hold the dedication ceremony early in that month. Unavoidable delay in the construction work has made completion of the work this year impossible, the memorial association official states.
All Tentative
Discussion of plans and dates for the dedication is entirely tentative at this time, and definite arrangements will probably not be made until early next year.
Although considerable progress has been made with construction of the tomb since the work was started several weeks ago, comparatively little has been done recently because of delayed marble shipments. The last of the supply of marble was laid about two weeks ago and since that time construction has virtually been at a standstill awaiting further shipments.
Landscape Work
Landscape work will start about Sept. 1, according to present plans, the intention being to complete the major portion of the grading on the grounds before winter sets in. Plans for the landscaping have been completed for the entire tract 10 acres of which are east of the Delaware and 17 acres west.
Although plans for the dedication have not advanced beyond the stage of preliminary discussion at this early date, it is regarded as practically certain that the address will be given by President Coolidge, whose wishes are expected to have an important bearing upon the date selected for the event.

PAY TRIBUTE TO SOLDIER DEAD

Memorial Day, when the hundreds of war are forgotten and friend and foe join to do homage to the soldier dead, finds few of the men who wore the blue and the gray in '61 left to pay tribute to their fallen comrades. Left, a white-haired G. A. R. veteran stands silent at the grave of a soldier friend. Above, a section of Holy Cemetery, France, where the white crosses, "iron on row" mark the graves of the American boys who fell in a major engagement of the 27th Division. Right, below, a sister kneels, weeping, at the grave of her brother buried on French soil. Since few Americans who have lost their boys in the Great War are able to go to France on Memorial Day, the French authorities are observing the day and the graves of the Americans, as well as the graves of the French, are decorated with flowers.

CHARGE FORMER JUDGE WITH MAL-PRACTICE

George H. Clark Accused of Transferring $500 Merchandise from Bankrupt Firm
Cleveland, May 28. A citation charging George H. Clark, former justice of the Ohio Supreme Court and former state chairman of the Republican party, with malpractice and professional misconduct, which has been held under seal in the United States clerk's office here for two weeks, was made public today.
At the same time, Luther H. Day and Oscar Alt, attorneys for Clark, filed an answer to the allegations.
The charges against Clark were drawn up by D. C. Van Buren, assistant U. S. attorney at the request of Federal Judge Paul Jones. They allege that on last March 5, the American Cycle Co., at Canton, was declared bankrupt and D. W. Krug appointed receiver. George H. Clark, was a partner in the company and was not served upon various creditors and other interested parties. An appraisal of all property of the company was held shortly before the sale which took place April 2, when all assets were sold to L. C. McGinley of Akron.
Some time between the date of the appraisal and the sale, according to the citation, George H. Clark is alleged to have caused merchandise valued at approximately $500 to be transferred from the bankrupt company to the Clark Hardware Co. of Canton.
George H. Clark is president of the hardware company and his son, John Clark, is secretary-treasurer and general manager, the citation says.
It is alleged that the accused had a key to the American Cycle Company store and that he turned this key over to his son, with permission to transfer the merchandise.

Senator Frank B. Willis Pays Glowing Tribute To President Harding In Talk

Delivers Principal Address at Dedication of American Elm Planted at Tomb by Columbus Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution
Not alone because of his ability as a president but because of his kindly, generous and above all courageous nature, will President Warren G. Harding be remembered in ages to come, declared Senator Frank B. Willis in an address at the dedication of an American elm tree at the Harding Memorial yesterday afternoon by women of the Columbus Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.
Following a luncheon at the Hotel Harding representatives of the Columbus chapter drove to the memorial where dedication services were held beneath the elm planted several weeks ago. A small concrete tablet topped with a bronze plate bearing the inscription of the Columbus chapter, was unveiled by Mrs. Herbert B. Bais, state president of Columbus, at the conclusion of the program.
Dr. George T. Harding, father of the late president, occupied a chair on the platform. The services opened with an invocation by Rev. Raymond W. Suttley, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, followed by a reading by Mrs. Carl W. Gay of Columbus. The speaker was then introduced by Mrs. Limer Layland, also of Columbus.
After paying a tribute to the woman of the Columbus chapter for what he termed their patriotic loyalty, the speaker declared that to know President Harding was to love him. Always kindly and generous with a courage that was outstanding the late president stood as one of the greatest men in the history of the country, the speaker said. Calling of the peace conference by President Harding was typified by the peace in the longest.

EX-CONVICT SHOOTS WIFE, SLASHES SELF

Clement Wubick in Critical Condition After Attempted Suicide
Tamaqua, Pa., May 28.—Clement Wubick, 48-year-old ex-convict, today shot and killed his estranged wife, Mary, 47, barricaded himself in his wife's home at Newkirk, slashing his throat with a knife, and then set fire to the home. He was dragged from the burning building and lodged in the Coudale Hospital, where his condition is reported critical.
Wubick, freed from Schuylkill County Jail two weeks ago after finishing a year's term for the attempted murder of his eldest son, Anthony, 19, had not seen his wife until this morning.

LOS ANGELES AQUEDUCT DYNAMITED SECOND TIME

Feud Over Water Rights Blamed; 300 Feet of Intake Blown Out
Los Angeles, May 28. The Los Angeles aqueduct, this city's main source of water supply, was dynamited for the second time within 24 hours early today, according to reports to the municipal water bureau here.
The second blast occurred near Big Pine, 200 miles north of here in Inyo County. The explosion is said to have blown out 200 feet of the intake leading to the Big Pine power house.
Dynamite was yesterday blew out a 450-foot gap in the huge siphon below Haines Reservoir, the principal storage point in the aqueduct system.
Both dynamite blasts were laid to the long standing feud between the city of Los Angeles and Owens Valley ranchers over water rights.

WOULD BEAT DRAFT

"King" Ben Planned To Defend Government, Private Secretary Told
St. Joseph, Mo., May 28.—"King" Benjamin Purnell issued instructions to his followers to beat the draft and engineered a scheme to defraud the government during the World War, Mrs. Purnell Johnson Harnford Harnell, former private secretary to the House of Representatives, testified today at the state's dissolution suit.
Mrs. Harnell told how, armed with confidential objection articles written by Purnell, she went before the war boards and asked the military authorities to exempt Purnell's bewhiskered cohorts at Camp Center.

WEATHER OUTLOOK

Occasional Showers Predicted For Ohio Valley Next Week
Washington, May 28.—Weather outlook for the period May 30 to June 4, inclusive: Ohio Valley, occasional showers. Temperature near normal at the beginning and then below normal until near the end of the week.

TWO LOUISIANA CITIES UNDER FLOOD WATERS

Crest of Atchafalaya Expected To Pass into Gulf in Two Weeks
PARISH SUBMERGED
Hundreds of Families Have Row Boats Anchored to Front Porches
New Orleans, May 28. Parishes struck by the crest of Louisiana's most southern flood, today were threatened by high ground today before the last destructive sweep of the Mississippi Valley's unconquerable flood.
New Iberia, a city of 7,000 and the parish seat of Iberia parish, is under two feet of water from the Bayou Teche. The water is rising an inch every hour and will blanket the city to a depth of three and a half feet during the next few days.
Morgan City, an important railroad center in St. Mary parish, 80 miles southwest of New Orleans, is half submerged in some spots under five feet of the Atchafalaya flood. Flood waters have lost more of water is predicted by meteorologists and army engineers for that city during the next 10 days. Nestled in a peninsula reaching out into Grand Lake and the Atchafalaya flood, Morgan City is with its stranded population of 10,000 divided her people between a narrow strip of five feet of water and preparing for five feet more.
Pays to Gulf Shortly
New Iberia and Morgan City are the largest Louisiana cities to go under water.
From Morgan City to the Gulf of Mexico is but 25 miles. The intervening lands of St. Mary parish are all but entirely marsh and cut over this by swamps.
The crest of the Atchafalaya flood, flood engineers predict, will pass into the Gulf in less than two weeks. Morgan City, some 20 miles south of New Iberia, will be the last city of the valley to be soured out temporarily by the flood. More than 1,000 persons have left the city during the last 48 hours.
Hundreds of other families within a few miles circle from the heart of the city have small row boats anchored to their front porches. An improvised double deck sidewalk system, six feet above the street level, has been constructed over a large part of the business section of Morgan City. Hundreds of automobiles are parked on narrow wooden bridges raised on stilts above the street. Gasoline launches nose in and out of the business streets.
Huddle in Docks
In some cases, where the water is shallow, automobiles go chugging along high up in water. Hundreds of head of cattle and mules driven in from the surrounding countryside by the encroaching waters, stand in the streets and roads about the city. Several hundred hogs find refuge on a string of Southern Pacific flat cars, walled in by a three-foot hedge of snailshells pressed to a new service.
At New Iberia, the water-filled queen city of the Teche, the people still are huddled in the Southern Pacific depot awaiting flat cars, box cars, oil tankers and coal gondolas to carry them to places of safety. For two days this horrid stricken and broken spirit has been besieged the railroad station. They swarm to every approaching train and scramble on without question as to its destination.

WANTS FULL HOUSE TO ACT ON DONAHUE VETO

Mooney Insists Solons Go Over Governor's Head on Two Money Items
Columbus, May 28. Republican leaders of the Ohio House of Representatives today had under consideration a request, made by Rep. L. P. Mooney, Republican, Hocking County, that the full house membership be called into session here next Tuesday for the purpose of repealing over Gov. Vic Donahey's veto various appropriation bills.
In a communication, addressed to Rep. O. C. Gray, Cadiz, speaker, and Rep. Martin D. Doherty, Toledo, Republican floor leader, respectively, Mooney favored nullifying the governor's veto of approximately 1,000,000 from the general appropriation bill.
Mooney insisted, however, that the solons should repeal over the governor's veto the appropriations of $500,000 for secondary, or on-ship, roads and $125,000 for operating the state library.
Assuming the governor of being inconsistent, Mooney wrote:
"The governor, in his first message, demanded that the legislature pass tax measures to raise more revenue, or he would veto $3,000,000 to make the budget balance. The legislature passed revenue measures to raise $10,000,000 additional and still the governor vetoed $4,000,000."
Crossing Accident Is Fatal to Three; One Hurt
Allentown, Pa., May 28.—Three persons were killed and one injured when a Pennsylvania train struck an auto at Gardfield, 10 miles east of here. The dead: Mrs. Joseph Bruck, 60, of Gardfield; Mrs. Paul Bruck, 35, of Gardfield; and Mrs. Mary Bruck, 35, of Gardfield. Joseph Bruck, husband of Mrs. Bruck, was badly hurt but with no serious injuries.

COOLIDGE O. K.'S CROSS FOR LINDY

Washington, May 28. President Coolidge has officially approved the award of a distinguished flying cross to Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, it was announced at the White House today. The cross, recently authorized by congress, was awarded for the first time to the army. Don Amerman, goodwill flyer.

ACTIVITIES TO CEASE HERE FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Practically All Business and Industrial Concerns To Suspend Operations
PROGRAM IS COMPLETED
Afternoon Services To Be Held at Epworth in Event of Rain
Practically all business and official activities will be at a standstill here Monday while citizens of Marion and vicinity join in the annual observance of Memorial Day.
Stores, offices, banks and all branches of local government, including county and city and the postoffice, will suspend operations during the day so that all persons in the community may participate in the customary tribute to the memory of the nation's war dead.
Final arrangements for the observance, which is expected to be one of the most impressive in the city's history, were completed at a meeting of the general Memorial Day committee held last night at the church's room in the armory on W. Church st.
At this meeting the committee decided definitely to hold the afternoon ceremonies at Epworth M. E. Church cemetery. The original plan was to transfer the program to the court-room in the event of weather interference. Epworth Church was selected instead because of its extensive seating capacity.
Vet-Quig Reception
Plans were completed today for reception and entertainment of Gen. John R. McQuigg of Cleveland who will deliver the principal address here Monday.
Major George T. Gernan will have charge of these arrangements.
General McQuigg accompanied by his wife is expected to arrive about noon Monday and they will be met by Major Gernan and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kumpfenberger, these four being representatives of Bird McQuigg Post No. 102 of the American Legion and the local ladies auxiliary of the legion.
Major Gernan is a personal friend of General McQuigg as the result of their association while General McQuigg was state commander of the legion. Major Gernan served at the same time.

50,000 GREET LINDBERGH AT BRUSSELS FIELD

Trans-Atlantic Flight Here Tendered Hearty Welcome to Belgium PERFORMS TRICKS
Aide-de-Camp of King Albert One of First To Greet Flier
BRUSSELS, May 28.—Belgium gave its highest honor to Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, "America's unofficial flying ambassador," tonight.
King Albert, receiving the young American at the royal palace, pinned the decoration of the Order of Leopold upon him and made him a chevalier.
Brussels, May 28. Finishing a successful flight from Paris with a bit of aerial flourish, Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, heroic transatlantic flier, arrived here this afternoon.
Lindbergh swept down out of the skies over Every Field at 3:10 and a few seconds later made a perfect landing.
Lindbergh landed in the midst of miles of elaborately prepared picket fences and thousands of military guards, keeping the crowds back.
Tens of Millions
At the first sight of the big gray plane in the clouded sky, Americans rushed out of the tents which had been erected to shelter them from the rain and a cry of welcome went up.
Above the field, Lindbergh performed a few aerobatics, as though signaling his joy at being in Brussels, and then slid down to earth.
The crowd, estimated at nearly 50,000, went mad with joy when Lindbergh came to the ground in a perfect landing.
One of the first to greet the young flier was the aide-de-camp of King Albert, and then he was presented in an array of Belgian military and naval leaders in full uniform. Then he passed on down the line of diplomats and political leaders, modestly accepting their welcome and praises with bluntness.
"Hurrahs" and "Bravos"
The clouds broke away and the sun streamed out as Lindbergh came to earth, the silver plane glittering in rays of sunshine. He made his landing near the end of the field and then in military fashion taxied up before the official tribune where crowds cheered, waved handkerchiefs and gave voice to loud "hurrahs" and just as loud "bravos."
Lindbergh's stunts before landing consisted of circling the field three times with sharply banked turns. "I thought this would probably afford me the best chance I will have of seeing you all," he explained to "Charge Dunn," who had raced across the field to greet him.
"Lindy" Is New "Huda"
When his machine had been brought to a standstill, Lindbergh clambered down from the cockpit, a hefty young aviator in his new flying garb.
Huda played the national anthem of Belgium and America and the young flier, who carried the young flier's hand and shook it, and then the 200 other persons on the tribune sought to do the same.
Lindbergh was placed in an open car and paraded around the field, while thousands cheered him and stood at their through a picket fence. "The Spirit of St. Louis" was placed on an especially constructed platform and the crowds were permitted to view it from a distance.
"I am happy to be the first man to convey to you in the name of the Belgian nation the heartfelt congratulations of our people for your marvelous flight which serves to unite our two countries and our hearts," said Premier Janssens in the official welcome, which was tendered Lindbergh in the officers' mess.
Break Through Fence
When Lindbergh left the officers' mess the crowd broke through a section of the fence in their anxiety to see the hero, but soldiers held them back with bayonets. The soldiers then proceeded to the embassy where heavy guard, relieving local police, was being provided.
While Lindbergh was changing into civilian clothes at the embassy, the great crowd demanded a sight of him, and Lindbergh made a brief appearance on the balcony and saluted the crowd.
In the embassy garden he talked with 100 Belgian, French and American correspondents.
"The weather wasn't too bad," said Lindbergh. "There was a little wind and I was delayed a bit by circling over Brussels where I dropped an American flag. That was about as close as I was going to do on 1 day."

2,000 JAP SOLDIERS ARE ORDERED TO TSINGTAO

Troop Movement Intended To Prevent Recurrence of Nanking, Hankow Trouble
Tokyo, May 28.—Premier Tanaka's flatter policy toward China was seen today for the first time when 2,000 Japanese soldiers were ordered from Manchuria to Tsingtao, a port of entry to the Chinese province of Shantung.
The troop movement, approved by the emperor, is intended to prevent the recurrence of outrages like the Nanking and Hankow incidents. Public concern for the safety of 2,000 Japanese nationals living near Tainan made the step necessary, it was said.
In a note of explanation, the foreign office declared the sending of troops to Tsingtao implied neither unfriendliness toward China nor an intention to interfere in the operations of the northern and southern Chinese armies.

The wreath is of magnolia and cedar leaves and tied with the national colors.

Answer Me, Please

Will Turns from Papers to Magazine; Has Easy Way To Get Out of Answering Questions; Says He Doesn't Care for This Game

BY WILL ROGERS

ALL I know is just what I read in the papers. But today I varied a little and picked up a Magazine, on the newstand in Hartford, Conn., and it was called, "Ask me Another." It was a "Question Book." I later found out it said "Match your wits with the following and see how near you can come to their score: Adolph Menjou, Tom Mix, Bull Montana, Ben Turpin, Tommy Morgan, Hoot Gibson, Lillian Gish, Jackie Coogan, Big Boy Williams, Greta Garbo, Mary Pickford, Ken Maynard, Walter Cameron and Itin Tin Tin." And down of others. Each one is asked so many questions and graded on the answers. Seventy per cent is considered high, eighty is fine, and 85 is perfect. Chester Conklin started off the answers in the book. The first question was: What is the name of a well known Sewing Machine that starts with the letter S, and has the same name as a person who vocalizes on the stage? What State is Kalamazoo in? What one is New York City in? Who was the last fat man we had for President? What was the name of Charlie Chaplin's Picture where he played the part of a Rowdy Soldier? What war was the picture based on? And More What's that well known Sport is Babe Ruth connected with? (a) It's a long time that has no— (b) Shot you are (c) A rolling stone gathers no—

(d) A fool and his money are soon parted. What famous American President was tall and rather homely, but freed the slaves, and was afterwards murdered in a Theatre? Well, old Chester just knocked 'em over according to the Magazine for an average of 78 per cent. Betty Bronson got a 79 per cent on the following questions. In what game does the phrase the "South Hole" appear? Who discovered America and Why? From what Country was the Queen Isabella who backed Columbus' tour? What Theatrical Producer is known as "Glorifying the American Girl"? What is the largest City in the United States? Dick Scores 88

Dick Barthelmess got the highest score. He got 88 on the following. How many of each Animal did Noah take on the Ark? What did Romeo marry? Who was it that said, "I cannot tell you when his father caught him trying to gnaw down a cherry tree with his hatchet? What is the Roman numeral for 100? What animal is pictured on the Great Seal? On what day of the month was the Declaration of Independence signed? Adolph Menjou in a very successful picture answered enough of the following to get an average of 81! What is Monte Carlo noted for? What was the name of the man who discovered penicillin (he was a man servant)? Christmas is next to what? What popular Movie Actor died in 1920 and John Neri not only died but came to life? What book of Mark Twain was it that a Yankee woke up back in the old early English days, it made a good lesson? Who is the famous Polish musician?

Who played the Piano with long hair and a long nose? Tom Gela Branded Tom Mix was the right of the following to be a cowboy with a score of 77: Who was the first woman to swim the English Channel? Between what two cities does the that was supposed to separate the north from the South? What Country award the following decorations for bravery: (a) Congressional Medal; (5) Iron Cross? What State is known as the Blue Grass State? Florence Vidor, I forget the score

WHO DISCOVERED OLEOMARGERINE AND WHY?

WHEN IS A DOOR NOT A DOOR? IN WHAT STATE IS CLAREMORE, OKLAHOMA? WHAT IS THE HYPOTHEUSE OF A HYPOTHONDRIAC? GIVE THE DEFINITION OF PARONOMASIA WHO IS HENRY FORD? WHAT IS FOUND IN EMPTY BOTTLES?

I don't know any of the answers

Twentieth Century run? How do these proverbs end: No count your chickens until what happens to them? What country's flag does the Star Spangled Banner represent? With what season is the following word associated, Yuletide? Hoot Gibson was right on Tom's heels with a 75 on the following tough ones: Who did a famous war song tell you to pick up your troubles in? What is the advertised average number of the people who have Hysteresis? In what State was Gold discovered on the west Coast in 1848? Golden Moore got a big percentage of the following: What according to the advertisement do "Children cry for"? What well known General was defeated at the battle of Waterloo? Who was heavy weight Champion ahead of Jeanne Tunney? Here is some that Richard Cortez had among his, according to the Magazine: Moses and His Beard What two names do they call the line but she was high on the following: What famous English male Comedian with a derby, now has a Brother who is featured in the Movies as a Come dian? Had Moses a beard, or was he clean shaven? What did the Orator in Rome want them to lend him when he said, Friends, Romans and Countrymen, lend me your ears? Dorothy Gish took care according to the Magazine of some of these stickers: Between what country and America is Niagara Falls located? What Country was Joan of Arc from? Who is Will Hayes? Can Alvin McPherson swim? Bebe Daniels was in there too. Bebe had this tough baby right off the reel. Name the Female of the following: Bull, Lion, Rooster? What do they call a man that sells Liquor illegally? Kin Tin Tin's Hot From what book did Cecil DeMille and Jeanne McPherson get the idea of the Picture The King of Kings? Who was the Fiddler during the fire at Home? Who was the man tried for murder at the same time that Ruth Snyder was? Old Kin Tin Tin barked out a 100 percent on the following: What is the last word in the following sayings: (a) Love me love my ....? (b) A barking Dog never ....? (c) Every dog has his ....? What animal is a man's best friend? There was a lot more of them answering them in this Magazine, Wallace Berry, Doug McLean, Richard Dix, Walt get the Magazine yourself. It's only 25 cents, and you can read all the questions. Now I don't know whether these folks know that their names is in there. Maybe somebody just put it out and didn't consult them about their answers at all. I know all these people and they are smarter than that. I tell everybody "I don't like the game," and that gets you out of answering your ignorance. I make out like it is beneath me, and it is because I don't know any of the answers. I am framing up one of my own to ask you all in a week or so. I am going to have some stickers. For instance, "Who will be the first President that will run for the third term?" AMERICA'S FIRST TRULY FINE SMALL CAR

Companion to the large Marmon 75

YOUTH

Years for the open road and the accelerator that never finds its bottom—but aren't we all?

"They're half-a-mile back"

The little Marmon 8 is never challenged twice by the same car.

Even if another car does get close, it will be only for a moment, because of the little Marmon's lightning-fast agility in any road congestion.

It has a way of flashing in and out that leaves drivers of other cars nonplused and bewildered.

—almost an excess of vital power in a low, staunch chassis, well able to take care of it —really a new epoch in quick, easy steering and control —riding ease which enables you to hit chuck-holes head on at almost any speed without the slightest discomfort —and four-wheel brakes which bring it down softly and surely, or with a militant snap.

These are a few of the reasons why everyone (especially the young people) have taken it so much to heart

—why only three months since its introduction—it has definitely established itself as the greatest automobile success of the times.

closed and local freight houses will be open for the delivery of perishable operated. Special Decoration Day proclamations have been received by a number of Marion railroads.

But those employed on passenger trains will not have a holiday. In fact, they are preparing to work harder than ever over the week-end.

Two Excursions
Two excursions through Marion over the Hocking Valley are scheduled for Sunday and Memorial Day, one going to Gallipoli, Middleport, and Pomeroy, with no stop-overs, and the other going to Detroit.

The Detroit excursion leaves Marion at 1 o'clock tonight and will get into Detroit at 6 o'clock, Sunday morning.
This excursion, however, contrary to turning to Marion Sunday night, starting from the Port-station at Detroit at 8 o'clock. The excursion is a ball game to Belle Isle and other neighboring districts.

No stop-overs will be allowed on the trip to Pomeroy, Middleport and Gallipoli. This fact has been stressed, also.

Besides the excursions on the Hocking over the week-end, other railroads are expected heavy holiday passenger traffic. The out-going traffic began yesterday and was much heavier than usual today. Interurban cars also felt the additional passenger travel.

New Time Tables
Two new time tables have been issued to take effect on Marion railroads Sunday. The Erie has announced four changes and the Hocking Valley two.
Train No. 3, operating between New York and Chicago on the Erie, will leave Marion at 11:30, each day, for Chicago under the new schedule. It formerly left at 1:25 a. m. Train No.
2 to Cincinnati on the Erie will depart at 11:35, also five minutes later than before.

Train No. 7 will leave Marion for Chicago over the Erie at 1:10 instead of 1:20 a. m. and the Huntington local car will arrive here at 12:50 instead of 1:05 p. m.

The two Hocking Valley trains to change are Nos. 37 and 31. Train 37 will leave here for Toledo and other northern points at 12:40 a. m. instead of 12:50. Train 31, southbound to Cal-cumbus and beyond will depart at 4:15
p. m. instead of 4:46 p. m.

Paris Hop Creates Demand for Air Route, Expert Says

Passengers Soon Will Be Only Too Glad To Pay Their Fares

WASHINGTON, May 28. Bill Mac-Cracken, Secretary of Commerce
Hoover's aviation assistant-in-chief, isn't so much overpowered by Charlie Lindbergh's 33-hour and 29-minute New York-Paris hop.

Not that Bill understands Charlie's feat; only he was expecting it, if not by Charlie, then by somebody else pretty quick.

But what Mac really is steamed up over is this:
He calculates that that flight has jumped transatlantic aviation ahead until it's almost with us right now.

BILL knows, better than anybody, that Charlie's trip, in itself, didn't prove anything as to overseas commercial flying.

Just because Lindbergh took a sporting chance and won, regular intercontinental passenger transportation by air isn't, in a material sense, advanced an inch. Bill doesn't think it is. He's aware that such voyages are quite as risky as they were before. He doesn't consider it any chance that Charlie himself could do it again.

But the psychological effect—that's what Bill looks at.

THAT flight of Charlie's, as Bill sees it, has created a demand for a demand for a transatlantic passenger service via the air.

He's a great believer in the theory cause, the object and prayer of which is that she may be divorced from said that a demand breeds a supply.

It took the offer of a reward to tempt
the first birdman across the ocean.
Henceforward, Bill gambles, it will be the other way about—passengers will be only too anxious to pay fares.

And never was fare tendered, Bill holds, that didn't demand prompt and somebody ready to take it up.

THE commerce department has seen no probability, any of the time, that non-stop transoceanic flights ever would pay, for the simple reason that a plane can't carry enough fuel for so long a voyage and have room for much of anything or anybody else.

But with "seadrones" to stop at and replenish—that's different.

The only things lacking are the "drones," and Bill MacCracken believes us that formation of a company to furnish them was being considered before Lindbergh's flight was three days old.

AS for safety, the commerce department everlastingly repeats this:
Don't mix military and commercial aviation.

The very qualities that make a plane safe for commercial purposes make it dangerous for military use and vice versa.

A commercial plane needs stability and wing spread and carrying capacity, not only for safety, but to make it pay.
Such a plane is comparatively slow and hard to steer.

A military plane must go like lightning, twist and change and slide and scurry, respond to a touch, and the heavier it is to the size of a postage stamp the better. It's a chance thing to fly of course, but a military plane's the military nature of its design.

FURTHERMORE, safety's a commercial pilot's best consideration;
a military pilot's last.

A commercial pilot's duty to save his plane is as binding on him as a merchant mariner's duty to save his ship.
A military pilot's duty is to make particular hash, at any cost, to his plane and himself.

"Just you watch and see what you get," is the last word warning that rings in a commercial birdman's ears as he takes off. "Death or glory," is the military aviator's motto as he soars into the air.

If Lindbergh did but know it, some prohibition folks plan to ask him a few questions when he gets home. Caldes say he drank his first champagne in Paris.

Ambassador Horlick will get it worse
yet. He's noisier of advising Charlie to drink it.

A Change is Taking Place in the Automotive Industry

Within the past few years public demand turned the tide from high pressure to balloon tires—from two-wheel to four-wheel brakes—from five to seven-bearing crank-shafts.

Now experienced motorists demand a better type of power plant with freedom from valve and carbon annoyance and less mechanical trouble —a type of motor that is quiet and stays quiet after many thousands of miles. They want unusual performance and activity in a motor that will maintain its efficiency indefinitely.

The Knight sleeve-valve engine, long used in many of the finest cars of Europe and America, is recognized as the superior and ultimate type of motor by both European and American automotive engineers, because it has the qualities which motorists so need.

The new Falcon-Knight is the first Knight-engine car in the lower price range.

HUSBAND ASKS FOR ALIMONY IN DIVORCE SUIT

Unusual Request Is Contained In Cross Petition of Barney Shank

A husband's request for alimony is an unusual feature of the divorce suit of Clara F. Shank against Barney Shank, now pending in the Marion County Court of Common Pleas.

Shank filed an answer and cross petition yesterday in which he said that he is practically without funds or property as the result of having transferred all but a small part of his former possessions to his wife and he asks the court to grant him "reasonable permanent alimony."

He asks first that a property at 155 N. Vine-st., which he says he purchased for his wife, be ordered held in trust for him by Mrs. Shank and that if the court does not see fit to make this decree, that the alimony award be made.

Married at LaRue

Mr. and Mrs. Shank were married at LaRue on Aug. 7, 1923. He was 61 years of age at the time of his marriage and Mrs. Shank was 46, according to the husband's cross petition.

Before coming to Marion they resided at Louisville. Two suits for divorce were brought by the wife in Ashland County and both were withdrawn when Shank made money and property settlements with his wife, he states. Then she started her third suit, the one now pending, after they moved to Marion.

The husband alleges that Mrs. Shank has obtained all of the money and property he had at the time of their marriage with the exception of $200 in cash, a $1,000 government bond, a Ford coupe valued at $150 and household goods formerly owned by his first wife.

All of his property, he states, was accumulated while he was living with his first wife.

Shank is represented by the law firm of Mouser, Young & Mouser.

Requests Sale

Margaret Shurz filed a petition in the court of common pleas, yesterday, asking the court to authorize the sale of real estate bequeathed by her late husband, Benjamin F. Shurz, in order that she may be provided with an income of at least $1,000 yearly from the property in accordance with the terms of her husband's will.

She names as defendants Florence Folsom Schoenlaub, Marion Gilmore, Ruth Moore, G. only child and heir of John Shurz Moore, deceased; Florence Folsom Schoenlaub, daughter of Shurz, widow of Frederick A. Shurz, deceased; and Ralph Moore, son of John Shurz Moore, deceased. Margaret Shurz, the petitioner, was an adopted child of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shurz.

Died in 1917

Mr. Shurz died on May 13, 1917 and bequeathed all of his real and personal property to his wife during her natural life on condition that she never remarry. After her death or remarriage, the property was to go to his children and the adopted child, Marion Gilmore, all named as defendants in the petition.

The will also provided that Mrs. Shurz should have sufficient income from the property to support her in comfort and that should it at any time fall below $1,000 a year she should have authority to sell enough of the property to bring the income to that amount.

The personal property, Mrs. Shurz says, was sufficient to pay out all debts and cost of administration of the estate and that there is now no property of this class yielding her an income.

Seeks Court Order

She asks for a court order for the sale of real estate, consisting of two properties, lot 1901 in John J. Hume's first addition to the city of Marion, estimated to be worth $5,000, and lot 1502 in the Park Boulevard addition, worth $15,000.

Mrs. Shurz owned an undivided one-half interest in the properties and his wife the other half. The petition was filed through the law firm of Mouser, Young & Mouser.

Abandonment Charged

Abandonment is charged by Mary Chapman in her suit for divorce filed in the court of common pleas this morning against Harry Chapman. The petition was filed by Mrs. Ethel Green, named as the plaintiff's mother and next best friend, Mrs. Chapman being a minor.

Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were married at Monroe, Mich., on Nov. 10, 1923, the petition states. The suit is the fourth divorce action brought here in the last two months as the result of marriages at Monroe, known as Green and Chapman, which eloping couples have gone for many years in and out of national bonds.

Mrs. Chapman, through her attorney, Carlhart & Warner, states that she was abandoned by her husband on Jan. 27, 1924 and that she has known nothing regarding his whereabouts since that time.

There are no children and in addition to asking for a divorce, Mrs. Chapman asks for restoration of her maiden name, Ethel Green.

Demurrer Filed

A demurrer was filed in the court of common pleas today by the state industrial commission in the suit brought by Richard D. Osborn on his workmen's compensation claim of $1,200 for alleged injuries in an accident at the Power Manufacturing Co. plant.

Osborn's claim was rejected by the commission and the suit was filed as an appeal. The accident upon which the claim is based occurred while Osborn was employed at the Power company plant on Jan. 22, 1929.

The demurrer, filed through Attorney General Edward C. Turner and Prosecuting Attorney Frank Wiedemann, is based on the grounds that the common pleas court is without jurisdiction and that the petition does not contain allegations sufficient to constitute a cause of action against the state commission.

Cause Settled

The suit of Hazel Donough against Leonard Donough, involving a claim for money alleged to be due the plaintiff, has been settled out of court and the costs paid. The same litigants were principals in a divorce suit recently concluded in the common pleas court when a decree was granted Mrs. Donough.

Services To Be Held Sunday for Aged Marysville Resident

Marysville, May 28—John Leonard Fensel, one of Marysville's oldest residents, passed away at his home in this city late Thursday night, after a long illness with heart trouble and infirmities of age. He had been an invalid for four years.

He was a native of Bavaria, Germany, being born there December 22, 1875. He was a son of Martin and Rosa M. Fensel, who came to this country when Mr. Fensel was a young boy, and settled in Union County.

He was married to Miss Elizabeth Huppel, May 27, 1898, and to this union two daughters, Misses Anna and Clara Fensel were born who have been residing with the father. Mrs. Fensel died a number of years ago.

Surviving are the two daughters and the following brothers and sisters: John, George and Peter Fensel, of Marysville and Mrs. Barbara Ruppel, of Kenton. Two sisters are deceased.

Mr. Fensel was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church of Marysville during his entire residence here. He was a very successful carpenter which trade he followed for a livelihood.

The funeral services will be held in Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. A. W. Zell. Interment will follow in Oakdale cemetery.

Annual Banquet Is Attended by Approximately 170 Graduates

The annual reunion and banquet of the Prospect High School Alumni Association was held at Prospect last night with approximately 170 graduates of the school in attendance, the event being one of the most successful in the history of the organization.

The program was in two parts, opening with a banquet and entertainment at the high school building, and closing with the reunion and a dance at the Knights of Pythias hall.

Following the banquet which started at 8 o'clock, there was a program of addresses, music and other entertainment features with Oscar Gist, chairman of the program committee, presiding.

After Dinner Program

The after-dinner program was as follows: Address of welcome, Miss Elizabeth Woltring, president of the alumni association; response, James Lauer, president of the class of 1927; vocal solo, Loris Grubbs; musical readings, Miss Margaret Osborn; vocal solo, Miss Esther Keller; address, "A Paradox and Its Challenge," Ben Horbater.

The alumni members assembled at the K. of P. hall at 10 o'clock, where dancing was enjoyed until after midnight. Music was furnished by the Marie Held orchestra of Delaware.

Members of the class of 1927, who received their diplomas at commencement exercises held Thursday night, were guests of honor and were formally voted into the association.

Officers of the alumni association are Miss Elizabeth Woltring, president; Edwin Isler, vice president; Miss Vera Abundance, secretary; Miss Marie Crawford, assistant secretary and Miss Mildred Bunnagater, treasurer.

step toward world peace that has been taken in 500 years.

President Harding was a lover of peace but was not a pacifist, the senator said. He knew the great danger in which the country would be placed if plans of disbanding armies, and sinking ships as suggested by the pacifists would materialize, it was pointed out by the speaker.

Touches Current Issues

Touching on current events, Senator Willis, scored what he termed the "International Moron" whose chief object in life, he said, was to find fault with the country and make it guilty of all blame in every controversy. The Mexican situation, he said, was not as popularly supposed, the result of controversy over leases on oil lands, but the result of agricultural claims. More than three-fourths, or 9,000, claims were by farmers who have gone into Mexico, established farms and lost them through the activities of bandits. The Mexican question could have been settled long ago, if the "international moron" had remained away from that country, the speaker declared.

He also pointed to the demand made by many that this country recognize Russia. This he also termed as efforts of the "morons" and showed the folly of such a move by pointing to the experiences undergone by England which recently severed relations.

time as Legion central committee in the Central Ohio district.

General McQuigg later was elected national commander of the legion and had one of the most successful minutes in the history of the organization. His home is in Cleveland.

Due to General McQuigg's national prominence as a Legion leader and his record of distinguished service in the World War his presence as speaker is expected to attract one of the largest crowds ever attending a Memorial Day program here. World War veterans representing all legion posts in the county and many in neighboring counties have arranged to be present.

No formal entertainment is planned for the distinguished visitor. It is expected, however, that he will greet veterans and other citizens informally at Hotel Harding, where quarters have been reserved for him and his wife.

The Memorial Day parade, with Major Geran as grand marshal, will start promptly at 1:30 o'clock, followed by the program of ceremonies at the cemetery or at Epworth church, should weather conditions make this change necessary.

Sunday Services

Sunday morning veterans of all wars will attend special memorial services at Wesley M. E. Church on Olney av. The address will be given by the pastor, Dr. J. D. Darling.

Immediately following this service, members of Marion Camp No. 32, Spanish-American War Veterans, will go to Waldo to take part in a program at the Lutheran church in the afternoon.

Monday night the Spanish war veterans and their wives will be guests at a reception to be held at the C. E. Rickard home on Clinton st.

umphant flight across the Atlantic Ocean.

Lindbergh left Le Bourget as he came alone. At his own request no military or civil escort accompanied him when he left the ground and circled over Paris for three-quarters of an hour.

The weather which had been threatening during the morning improved just before the master aviator took wing, and there was a bright sun to light the silver wings of his plane as he sped over the held to the applause of those who had come to bid him farewell.

After his flight around Paris, Lindbergh planned to return over Le Bourget where two squadrons of military planes of the twenty-fourth regiment will take the air and escort him to the border.

Flowers Forced on Him

Lindbergh entered the hangar at 12:10 o'clock for his take-off, and a machine started the motors. At 12:15 o'clock the airplane was wheeled out. There were 15,000 persons allowed on the field but they were kept well back from the plane. Many women tried to hand flowers to Lindbergh, but he courteously declined them. Finally one woman handed a huge bunch of roses into the cockpit, and when she turned away Lindbergh dropped them from the opposite window of his cabin, for it would have been a sort of funeral omen to fly with a bouquet of white roses.

Once in the cockpit, Lindbergh didn't speak again, but taxied to mid-field at 12:18 and was in the air two minutes later.

Lindy "Dolls Up"

Just before he mounted to the cabin of his plane, Lindbergh surprised the crowds by "dolling up." He put on a pair of new leather flying coat and a pair of high boots, supplanting the rather shabby clothes he had worn in his transatlantic flight. It was explained that he had decided that the reception awaiting him required that he don clothes more befitting than his grimy flying suit.

Lindbergh arrived at Le Bourget flying field at 7:35 o'clock accompanied by Captain White.

Immediately after his arrival Lindbergh began a minute examination of "The Spirit of St. Louis" and personally supervised the filling of the petrol tanks with 90 gallons of fuel.

Rain fell nearly all night but the weather had partially cleared after day-break. It was cold and misty and low hanging gray clouds threatened more rain.

Given Two Flags

American Ambassador Myron T. Herrick, accompanied by his son, Dorely Herrick and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Parmely Herrick, and a few friends arrived at Le Bourget turned up his plane.

The American ambassador carried with him two small American flags, one for Lindbergh to drop over Paris and the second to be dropped over Sweden, the point nearest to Paris that the Germans reached in 1918.

Lindbergh's take-off was a starting case, and he gave those who watched his departure a thrill. As he rose he had cleared the ground, he left the nose of his plane almost straight upward and began climbing at a terrific rate, while the crowd cheered.

Although Lindbergh had used the best of his plane almost straight upward, his civilian airplane, chartered by photographers had been crashing in the air as soon as he was in the air. As soon as these planes joined Lindbergh others immediately took off and he might took on the proportions of a procession, although most of the planes were unable to keep pace with Lindbergh.

Given Final "Zoom"

Lindbergh found considerable difficulty in getting away undisturbed for the crowds that have besieged him ever since he came to Paris were again on the trail.

At 1:40 o'clock Lindbergh was back over Le Bourget, dipping his wings in a final salute to the crowds, with 10 planes trailing him. The military escort took the air and Lindbergh turned his plane towards the Belgian border with a final zoom downward through the sky as his farewell to Le Bourget.

Grows on the ground about their eyes fixed on the tiny silver plane, and the swarming planes about, until it was just a distant fleck in the sky, and then they left, each with a silent prayer that Lindbergh will have success and safety on his journey.

Present Plans

All offices at the courthouse were closed at noon today in accordance with an agreement entered into about a week ago by the various county officials. The arrangement will be permanent, according to present intentions, the plan being to observe Saturday afternoon as a half holiday as provided by state law.

All but four of the county offices have been observing the Saturday half holiday rule since about a year ago and recently it was decided to place the plan in effect throughout the entire building.

Marion County is one of the few counties in the state where the half holiday plan has not been in force, investigation shows. The rule is observed in all other counties in this part of the state.

TWO CHURCHES TO HOLD JOINT RITES SUNDAY

Trinity Baptist Members To Be Guests of Calvary Congregation at Night

Two local churches of different denominations will hold a joint service here at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night when the congregation of Trinity Baptist Church will be guests of the congregation of Calvary Evangelical Church. Dr. U. S. Davis, pastor of Trinity Church, will preach, his sermon subject not having been announced.
Rev. C. L. Allen, pastor of Calvary Church, although unable to take over all of his duties as pastor of the church after a recent severe illness, has arranged the remainder of the program, to consist of musical numbers in charge of L. D. Zachman, Calvary choir leader, with Mrs. J. W. Baker, Calvary Church organist, assisting.
Reverend Allen will preach at the morning service on the subject, "The Unknown Christian."

CHILDREN'S DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY CHURCH

Program Arranged at Oakland Evangelical; Various Groups To Participate

Diagnoses, recitations, songs and plays constitute the "Children's Day" program to be presented at Oakland Evangelical Church at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Various groups of children will be in charge.
Plans are in progress for the evangelistic campaign to open at the church June 5, with the Petrolford revivalists in charge. Services will be held each night except Saturday the first week. Afternoon services are being planned for the last two weeks of the campaign, with services at 2 o'clock each afternoon except Monday and Saturday.
Saturday June 4, a day of prayer will be observed in preparation for the revival. Prayer meetings were held in three homes last night in preparation for the evangelistic campaign.

NEW YORK MAN TO TALK AT SALVATION ARMY HERE

Adj. Samuel Hewitt of New York City, one of the leading preachers of the Salvation Army, will conduct a week of revival services at the local Salvation Army post every night from May 21 to June 5, inclusive. Services are scheduled for 7:30 o'clock.
Adjutant Hewitt is known throughout the country as a capable evangelistic leader.
Frank Berry, recently appointed prison secretary of the Salvation Army of Marion County, will conduct a jail service at the local Salvation Army Post Sunday night following a memorial service in charge of Captain William Killock, leader of the local post.
At the morning service Sunday at 10:15 o'clock Captain Killock will preach on the subject, "Why I Am a Christian," and at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night on the subject, "What Is Meant by Those Stones," a memorial sermon.

AUTOMOBILE DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY CHURCH

Sunday will be "automobile day" at First United Brethren Church. In observance of the day churchmen have been requested to ride to church Sunday morning, with their cars filled with guests whom they wish to bring to church. The pastor, Rev. W. H. Howell, will preach on the subject, "Automobiles" and will also be heard in a patriotic address.

EPWORTH SERVICES

Dr. H. E. Armistead of Delaware, district superintendent of the local district of Methodist Churches, will have charge of the Sunday morning service at Epworth M. E. Church, it was announced today.

Emmanuel Baptist Church Built During Spare Hours

Members of Congregation Work at Night To Construct Frame Edifice

BY REV. EARL L. HOLLIDAY
The actual origin of Emmanuel Baptist Church was the conviction of its need on the north side of the city. He was quite bold to express his conviction to others who in turn got the burden. The burden at that time however was not for a church, but a place of Bible instruction for the great number of children who were not being instructed on the Lord's day.
At that time Dr. Walter King was pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, the Trinity young people organized as a Christian Endeavor Society.
One night during the fall of 1911 these young people discussed the subject of work for our society. During that service Dr. King presented to the young people the needs, possibilities, and opportunities of doing a definite and immediate work by opening a Bible School on N. State-st.
The society took the matter up and after due consideration appointed a committee to begin work at once relative to opening such a school at the earliest possible date. A private dwelling was then rented at 1131 N. State-st. Personal subscriptions were received by the committee, a number being given by the Trinity members, to cover the first year's budget. Out of these was the school organized. On Dec. 6, 1914 the first Bible school session of Emmanuel Baptist Mission convened.
The officers and teachers of the school were as follows: L. J. Parker, superintendent; G. P. Layman, assistant superintendent; Dale Gorman, secretary; Boyd Brown, treasurer; Liles King, organist; James Whaley taught the adult class; Boyd Brown taught the young ladies; Helen King the intermediate girls; John H. Clark the intermediate boys; and Edith Keeler, Doris and Naomi Byers the primary department. L. J. Parker, the superintendent, was kept away the first six months on account of illness. It was in May, 1925, that he assumed his duties as superintendent and was very devoted and loyal to the school for several years. The work grew so rapidly that Rev. John W. Wynne was invited to conduct a special series of meetings in the interest of the mission and at the close a number of converts were received. After the meetings closed Reverend Wynne was called to be pastor of the mission. The classes in the school began to organize. The organization of a Ladies Mission Circle followed.
Work Promising
The work was so promising that a committee was appointed to look for a building site and to consider the advisability of building. After careful consideration a lot was purchased on the corner of Fairview and N. Main sts. The old house that stood on it was disposed of and one day after Sunday morning services the Mission group marched to the vacant lot and conducted a dedication service. The building committee composed of James Whaley, Arthur Watson, Howard Hughes, and C. E. Lippincott was elected. Money and material were solicited by the committee and especially by the pastor, Reverend Wynne. Everything moved nicely, the men of the community working spare time, two men worked every night until almost midnight for several weeks, until midwinter at which time the mission group met for the first time in the frame building, 30 feet wide and 50 feet long. Because of the growth of the mission, it was thought wise to organize a Baptist Church.

REV. E. L. HOLLIDAY —Photos By Vail

Organized in 1917
In the fall of 1917 a group of ministers and delegates from the Marion Baptist Association met and organized Emmanuel Baptist Church. Soon after the beginning work was completed Reverend Wynne resigned. Later Rev. John M. Cosby was called to be half time pastor of the mission. He served about six months. Then Rev. J. G. Beard was called as pastor in 1921 and served for almost 3 years. During Reverend Beard's pastorate a bell tower was erected making a two room addition to the building. The church was without a pastor for a short time after Reverend Beard resigned. On Feb. 3, 1923 Earl L. Holliday became pastor for part time during his school year and full time during the summer. ## Music in the Church

A SERMONETTE BY REV. W. S. YOUNG
Pastor, First Memorial Baptist Church

THE days of the old hymns from the pulpit are over, and today the chorister and his choir have become a most necessary factor in the church service. We would not dare minimize the importance of the preached word but merely place the mission of the gospel in song where it rightly belongs.

Many are the prayers that ascend in behalf of him who brings the spoken message, but rarely does one hear a prayer in behalf of the choir or him who leads.

A true religious song, and like Tennyson's lullaby, sings because it must. One of the notes of a true religion is that it inspires to song. Music originates in the souls of men and women striving to rise above the material and the sensual into a fuller comprehension of eternal beauty, harmony and goodness.

Here we are led to state that present day music is not music, because, as generally heard, it originates in sensuous emotion and is usually in places of questionable character, and is an expression of discord and degeneracy seeking worldly pleasure in sensuality.

A note of caution should be sounded then to those in charge of the musical program of the service of religious worship. Great care should be taken to select such numbers as will inspire and elevate rather than to introduce some of the jangling ragging tunes that have been slowly but surely creeping into the library of religious song.

The great need of the world today is harmony. It has had enough of discord.

SUNDAY SCHOOL MEET TO BE HELD IN PORTSMOUTH

Sixty-Eighth Annual State Convention Is Scheduled June 14-17

Continental masters of religious education will be in attendance at the sixty-eighth annual State Sunday School Convention to be held June 14 to 17 in Portsmouth. Delegates from churches of all sections of Ohio and representatives of the local churches will also be in attendance. Mrs. R. W. Kaubler, county secretary of the Council of Religious Education, is in charge of arrangements for local delegates. Special rates have been accorded by the railroads and arrangements made to lodge and breakfast all delegates, free of charge.

Among the prominent speakers and leaders, scheduled to be present, are Professor H. Augustine Smith of Boston who will lead singing and direct fine arts of the convention, Professor William C. Bowers of Chicago, a teacher of rare attainments and well-known as a capable leader; Mrs. Grace Stoen, division leader of the Council of Religious Education; Dr. H. Sheldon Smith, superintendent of Leadership Training, representing the International Council of Religious Education; Miss Mabel Town of Oakbrook, Ill., children's division leader and acting secretary of the Wisconsin Council of Religious Education.

NEW SALESMAN PASTOR TO DELIVER FIRST SERMON

Rev. G. A. Kanaler, who arrived here Tuesday from Waukegan, Ind., to take up his new duties as pastor of Salem Evangelical Church, has chosen for his first sermon as pastor there, "Sunrise" at the service at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning and "Sunset" at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night.
The church is arranging special works for both services.
Work of remodeling the church will begin next month. The finance committee is now soliciting funds for the work among church members.

GRAND ARMY WOMEN TO GIVE DEPARTMENT FLAG

Women of the Grand Army of the Republic will present the patriot department of the Sunday School division of Central Christian Church, with a flag at the service at 7:30 o'clock Sunday night at the church. Comrade Charles Wiley of Cooper Post, will make the presentation.

MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED BY CHURCHES

Four Local Congregations To Hold Special Rites on Sunday

Four local churches have announced memorial or patriotic services for Sunday in observance of Decoration Day, Monday. Featuring Sunday's observance will be the Sunday morning service at Wesley M. E. Church, previously announced, when members of Cooper Post, No. 117, G. A. R., will hold their annual memorial service. All patriotic bodies are invited to attend.

Other churches holding memorial observances are Central Christian Church, Sunday night when Rev. George B. Groves, pastor, presents a patriotic sermon on the subject, "Let Us Forget," and at Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church Sunday morning when Rev. Alfred W. Swan, pastor, preaches a memorial sermon. Patriotic services at First United Brethren Church will be held in connection with "Automobile Day" there Sunday morning.

REAL ESTATE SALES SLUMP DURING WEEK

Fall Below Usual Average, Recorder's Report Shows; 28 Transfers Filed

The number and volume of real estate transactions in Marion County fell below the usual average during the last week according to the recorder of deeds and mortgages at the county recorder's office.

There were 29 mortgages totalling $54,516.72, these figures being little more than half of the totals for the preceding week, when 45 mortgages amounting to $101,050.47 were filed.

The week's total of deeds placed on record was 28, seven less than the preceding week.

Of the 29 mortgages filed this week, 24 were on city property, the amount of loans being $10,510.72. Loans on farm property showed an increase, the total being $7,000. Farm loans the preceding week amounted to $4,125.

The local building and loan associations loaned $39,550 of the week's total, $38,550 of this being on city property and $1,000 on farm property.

The largest loan on rural property was $5,500 on a farm in Grand Prairie township on a mortgage issued to the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Co.

List of Transfers

Pleasant Acres Allotment South of City Becoming Very Popular Home Section

New Residential District on Delaware-rd Offers Rural Surroundings Within Short Driving Distance of City; Consists of 71 Acres

A new residential district is rapidly developing just south of the city, in what will be within a few years, adjacent to the boundary line of Marion just a short distance beyond the city limits on the Delaware-rd, perhaps closer to the center of Marion than any like development could be in any other direction, and on the leading highway to the city, lies this popular home-site allotment.

It consists of about 71 acres and contains some 40 odd parcels of land, divided up in one-acre tracts, many facing the Delaware-rd and others adjoining the highway running east and west along the south boundary of the property. There are other one-acre parcels, 30 feet wide by 140 feet deep, facing two new streets, which are being offered for the same price as many smaller city lots.

"Pleasant Acres" as this property has been aptly named, is in Pleasant Township and is just a little over a mile beyond the new Harburg Memorial which, when completed, will be one of the nation's most beautiful shrines, and will represent an expenditure, including the landscaping of the park opposite it, of over $800,000.00.

While the property is close enough to some of Marion's leading industries, it is so situated that the factory district can never get near, so as to mar the beauty of the site, nor with its accompanying noise, smoke and soot, pollute the purity of the country air.

Just at this time the Delaware-rd facing the property is being widened six feet, which will make this national highway one of the finest maintained by the state and national governments in the very near future, the road will be closed for a brief period, making it necessary to reach the allotment via Prospect-pl., Snell-rd and thence east to the property on the Yeager-Governor, all paved roads.

Pleasant Acres was conceived, developed and still is in the hands of the original owners, O. H. Boyd, Jay Vaughan and Z. Stout, who give it their personal attention. Mr. Vaughan living in Pleasant Acres in a beautiful new home erected by him last year.

Already there are seven homes on this property, all sold besides all the lots excepting three on the main highway being sold and new homes being contemplated by their owners in the very near future. These three unsold lots on the Delaware-rd and a few other, one-acre parcels, facing the Yeager-Governor are particularly well located for a country home.

Teachers Employed by Green Camp Board

Green Camp, May 28—At a recent meeting of the board of education the following teachers were employed for the coming school year: Harry H. George, principal; Miss Mabel Patterson, Greenville, English; M. L. Barnhart, seventh and eighth grades and athletic coach; E. Hazel Heisberger, Mt. Blanchard, fifth and sixth grades; Miss Esther Gracely, Agonia, first and second grades. An instructor for the third and fourth grades and domestic science will be employed later.

PERMITS ARE ISSUED IN CITY FOR 11 HOMES

Total Estimate Placed at $31,500; Drops Below Last Week's Record

While showing improvement over earlier spring activities, building in Marion has not met the expectations held by local real estate men last fall and winter, basing it on the number of permits issued from the office of the city clerk.

A drop of approximately $12,000 under the valuation of permits issued a week ago is shown in the permits issued during the past week. Last week the total estimated valuation reached $44,020 while the past week the total estimated valuation was $31,639.

Eighteen permits for dwellings and garages, practically all of which were in the course of construction, taken out by Karl W. Schell, located the total for last week, while this week was given a boost by the issuing of two permits for dwellings to C. D. Schaffner.

Permits for 11 dwellings with a valuation estimated at $31,000, 15 garages valued at $2,010, one addition valued at $300 one storage valued at $200 were issued by City Clerk Keller last week. This week saw permits issued for 8 dwellings with an estimated valuation of $21,050, two garages valued at $225, two porches valued at $90, one shed valued at $25 a kitchen valued at $30 and a chicken coop valued at $12.

Now I believe the Smith boys, being good business men and keenly alert for any hot scheme of advertising would be more than glad to have on top one or two of their famous coughdrops at each and every public gathering place, and even if the cough didn't appreciate them so keenly wouldn't the rest of the customers forever chant the praises of the two chap-men who made it possible to sit through an evening's entertainment minus raucous barking?

I believe that in a very short time I might become more popular than I did, at least I believe they might become a part to be several blue moons before most of us are going to be able to whisk over to Paris for the week-end and we are able to take up a thin dime to get to a show of concert and even for the collection box at church. Did you ever lose the point of the best joke of the bill, or miss the climax of a good lecture just because some one beside or behind you coughed right into your shell pink ear? Now I believe the Smith boys, being good business men and keenly alert for any hot scheme of advertising would be more than glad to have on top one or two of their famous coughdrops at each and every public gathering place, and even if the cough didn't appreciate them so keenly wouldn't the rest of the customers forever chant the praises of the two chap-men who made it possible to sit through an evening's entertainment minus raucous barking?

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

When he answered, Larry barely caught the reply:

"I think I do—love you."

The manner in which he said it, or the tone of his voice, Larry did not know which caused him to look at the youth keenly, but the latter was already preparing his resting place for a try at sleep.

All the next day they toiled slowly on their way, ever climbing, ever finding the road more dangerous, the footing more precarious. They seemed literally to be walking upward toward the roof of the world, and the high altitude, had not Larry been in perfect condition, indubitably must have slowed his progress. As for the youth, he was a native of these vast mountain reaches and the thinness of the air affected him not at all.

Toward evening they came through a narrow fissure in the mountains and strode into a small, level cup in the surrounding ruggedness that Larry instantly seized upon as their camping place for the night. Not more than twenty feet one way by a dozen feet the other, nevertheless it was entirely free from rocks or depressions, and was carpeted with rank, thick grass that promised soft bedding for the night.

As they looked around speculatively, they saw a tall figure emerge from the shadows of a clump of argan fir, a long, shining rifle held before him. This short burrhead and small turban placed him at once as a soldier or a guard. He walked to them rapidly.

"I," he announced in guttural Cheluh, "am Hammada ber Hamara, kaid el-dinia. Who are you and whence came you?"

"O, captain of a hundred," Larry answered, his voice dull, his words falling in a slow monotone, "I am Youssef el-Habassi, whom men say, is not unknown, even here. This hardy youth beside me is a scholar who studies that he may learn my art. We travel from the north and we go to the south."

The kaid shook his head, as though endeavoring to toss sleep from his eyes.

"Well, that is as it may be. It is written that your journey may end here for those who have heard of your coming and who have set a guard over the pass have judged that you may not cross el-Diboll until you can convince me that you are really the true wizard and not an imposter, coming in his name."

"That is well spoken, kaid," Larry answered. "Tell me, what is it that you wish me to do, that I may prove to you I am the true wizard?"

The kaid lowered his rifle a trifle. Again he seemed to be having trouble with his eyes, eyes that Larry had never for an instant left free from his own gaze. He yawned slightly.

"I am bidden to ask that you show me where the Sacred Eye lies hidden and if you truly are Youssef el-Habassi, this should be no trouble for you."

For answer Larry pointed toward the dark wall of the surrounding brush. He spoke sharply:

"Look!"

The other stared into the green foliage and as he gazed he saw a shadow pass, then a light there sprang up a great temple, marvellously white and beautiful, minarets gleaming in the late afternoon sun, its gables and eaves standing out in bold relief against the dark, green background of the surrounding valley. Around it ran a low, white wall and men were on the battlements.

The vision faded swiftly, and in its stead came a face—the face of Ben Mansour and the kaid, recognizing his shirt of a decade ago, shriveled with age, lifted his hands as though to ward off a blow. Again the vision passed and now across the wall of the brush there came marching columns of soldiers in blue uniforms, carrying guns with bayonets attached to their ends, cannon rumbled along behind them and high overhead whirled and hummed ghostly airplanes.

These soldiers were marching across a small valley, surrounded by towering mountains that came down and hemmed them in. Now, out of these mountains came a horde of burrhead-clad figures on swift horses, rifles gleaming in the lowering sun, swords swirling high in the air. The kaid seemed to hear the swirl of the gheysats, or Moorish bagpipes; he seemed to hear the call of the naffar, the trumpet; then he saw the two bodies of men clash in a whirling spray of motion and color.

The $7,500,000 clubhouse now under construction in New York City for the American Women's Association will have 1,250 rooms.

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary in Armor

I HURRIED to my bedroom door and opened it at Mary Harrison's soft call. Her hair was a welcome diversion to me. I had puzzled enough over the problem presented by Dick's remarks concerning our widely divergent yet equally mysterious neighbors, the Lincolns, who had just taken possession of that stately old estate, The Larches, and the two men who were occupying the Grumey shack at the rear of the farm.

I guessed, however, that Mary's errand was connected with only one member of the Lincoln family, and that member the one who occupied the most prominent place in my own thoughts, Eleanor Lincoln's open ending for Noel Veriluz's attention, patiently had plucked the attention and aroused the antagonism of Dick's lovely young niece, and as I threw open my door and admitted her, I knew that I would have an enjoyable and amusing interview. Mary is not only direct in her treatment of any problem which arises before her, but her methods are picturesque as well.

"Am I disturbing you, Auntie Madge?" she asked with pretty deference as she came in then broke into tempestuous exclamation.

"I can't help it if I am," she cried. "I've simply got to talk to you."

"You couldn't disturb me, dear," I said smiling, and drawing forward a chair for her. "Sit down and unburden your mind. What's on it?"

"That damned old man at The Larches," she returned. "Did you see the dead set she made at Noel, and at Uncle Dick, too, for that matter? She evidently thinks herself a regular vamp. And she had it all planned to have Noel take lunch there every day. My word! but she's a fast worker, that dame."

I looked into my handkerchief, trying to pass my mouth off as a cough, but failing miserably. Mary fixed me with her bright eyes, then grinned widely.

"Go on, laugh," she said, and promptly I availed myself of her permission. After a second of indecision she joined me heartily.

"But she's got several more tricks coming, that's what," she said after a little. "If she thinks I'm going to play Posie in a corner while she walks off with Noel, she'll mighty soon find out her mistake."

I shot a fleeting wondering glance at her, contrasting her open declaration of war with the way a typical girl would have acted had she seen a young man of her train ogled for by some other girl. The first move of that Nineteenth century girl would have been to try to convince everybody that she had no interest whatever in the young man in question.

A generation or two farther back, and a young woman would have retired from the world and "gone into a decline," if she had faced the possibility of losing the young man she loved. The present-day girl throws down the gauntlet of battle tragically or humorously as their temperaments dictate.

I put out a tentative little finger tipped over an slightly with amused malice. "I didn't know you were so interested in Noel, Mary," I said.

She put her head on one side, reminding me rather forcibly of a saucy robin.

"I'm not mad about him. If that's what you mean," she said. "I haven't any plans to Charleston him to the altar, or even to annex him as a permanent sweetie. But I've played around with him more than I ever did with anybody else, and no long, lean, lank lady from the Land of Nowhere is going to grab him away from me unless I hand him over to her myself on a silver salver, with a card attached reading, 'Compliments of the Season!'"

"As I take it," I commented, with twitching lips, "you have no intention of preparing Miss Lincoln a salver like that very soon?"

"You can say your prayers on that, Auntie, darling," she retorted flippantly. Then she struck a more sober note.

"I wouldn't care if she'd only understand the lad," she said. "But nobody understands Noel except me."—Copyright, 1937.

Pontiac Six is making history again! Last year it broke all world records for first year sales of a new make of car! This year that record is being surpassed in a spectacular way, for today's Pontiac Six is new and finer—and offered at new low prices!

No other car so clearly typifies Pontiac's present-day value supremacy as the Sedan at $775. Never has any low-priced six been built to such rigid quality standards. And never has any car of its type won such wild success!

... A Fisher body, longer and lower—with all the luxury, strength and beauty that Fisher craftsmanship denotes—with a rich and lustrous finish in durable Beverly like Dura-Jovy enamel.

... A motor with an international reputation for power, stamina and economy—and with sufficient speed to click the higher figures of an accurate speedometer.

... A chassis built of rugged, flame-treated units; and now improved by such mechanical refinements as a clutch of even smoother action, new transmission and brake levers, oil-cooled universal joints and tilting-brake headlights with foot control.

Here is true quality in design! Here is true economy in performance! Drive the car yourself and learn what General Motors can make possible in a car like this!

NO ACTUAL CORN BORER WORK IS DONE IN COUNTY

Only Two Weeks Remain To Complete Campaign In Fixed Time

No actual corn borer clean-up work has been done in Marion County by federal-state authorities, although only about two weeks remain of the time set for the campaign.

It was stated today by an official connected with the enforcement plans, however, that the clean-up force will probably get in action next week and that from then on the work will be pushed rapidly to completion.

It is practically certain that there will be little if any hand-picking done in Marion County for removal of refuse from last year's corn crop. Plans for using old burners and other equipment designed for destruction of corn stubble have also been abandoned, officials indicate.

Equipment Here Government plows and tractors are in the county ready for use, however, and it is expected that operation of this equipment will be started next week. Although the plowing under process is not regarded as an effective means of exterminating the corn borer, it is practically the only method to be employed in Marion County this spring, according to plans outlined today.

The plowing operations will help rather than retard corn planting for this year. It is pointed out, as the ground thus worked will be ready for seeding after harrowing is done. Much of the plowing will be on abandoned farms in the county, which are reported to cover an extensive acreage. Due to unfavorable weather conditions this spring and also an unsatisfactory market for farm produce, many land owners and tenants have decided to permit their land to stand idle this season.

To Do Plowing Corn stalks and stubble left from last year cover much of this land and in all such cases the fields will be plowed under by the state federal crews.

It is pointed out that this will be beneficial not only to the farmers but the community, as it is expected that most of the farmers will take advantage of the plowing by planting crops on the land, which otherwise would have been non-productive this year.

Marion County's force of seven corn borer inspectors was busy yesterday continuing their survey of the question of corn borer and preparing reports for the county health officer, Dr. J. H. Johnson, and the state health officer, Dr. J. H. Johnson, who was appointed supervisor of the campaign for Marion and Morrow counties last week.

On the basis of these reports, clean-up notices are to be sent to owners of the abandoned farms and other land where government orders have not been complied with satisfactorily.

CHRYSLER AGENCY WILL MOVE TO S. PROSPECT-ST
Announcement that he would move his sales room from the present location to the room formerly occupied by the Studebaker sales room on S. ## MEETS TWO KINGS IN FOUR DAYS

London, May 28—Capt. Charles A. Lindbergh, the most astonishing American visitor that ever journeyed to Europe, will be greeted by two kings in four days—King Albert of Belgium, today, and King George of England on Tuesday. Lindbergh is due here about 6 o'clock Sunday night from Brussels and then will begin another round of demonstrations and high honors. United States Ambassador Alan Somers, Houghton and Sir Samuel Hoare, the British air minister, will greet "Lucky" upon his arrival at the Croydon Flying Field. Lindbergh may witness the derby from the royal box Wednesday and the following day he will fly back to continental Europe.

HARDING JUNIOR-SENIOR DINNER-DANCE IS GIVEN

Annual Event Is Held in Star Auditorium; Stunt Day Observed

Outstanding in the Harding High School program of social events for the year, was the beautifully-appointed dinner-dance given by juniors for seniors last night at the Star Auditorium. During the dinner hour, Edward Houghton, Junior class president, presided, giving the address of welcome to which Joseph Rihner, president of the senior class, responded in behalf of his classmates. Other toasts included "The Wonderful Book" an interesting and appropriate talk by Miss Helen Jacoby, a member of the High school faculty, who compared life to a book, saying the graduates just completed a chapter in that book of life, the chapter the seniors would read next year, believing them to so fix their lives as to make of them a wonderful book.

Gives Toast
Jane Shelton of the Junior class gave a toast to the senior boys, Ruth Louise Henderson a toast to junior boys, George Stafford a toast to senior girls and Oscar Hittentrach a toast to junior girls.

Streamers and balloons of gold and silver, senior class colors, blue and silver, junior class colors, red and black, Harding High School colors, decorated the auditorium.

Following dinner, dancing was enjoyed with music furnished by the Hotel Harding ballroom orchestra. One of the most unique stunt day programs ever presented by a senior class was given by the graduates of '27 at the high school Friday morning. William Dowler presided as "King of the South Seas," seniors of each home room then passing in review before him to present their stunt. The program consisted of a mock trial, the presentation of a "moving picture," "The Gallop of the Year," a take off on the girls' gymnasium exhibition, on graduation, and on high school dramatics.

FREIGHT RATE QUESTION REOPENED IN COLUMBUS

Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Protesting Charge for Hauling Fertilizer

Marion County farmers who have looked forward to obtaining a reduction in freight rates on fertilizer, are in for a temporary disappointment, according to word received at the Marion County Farm Bureau office from the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation at Columbus. The case before the Interstate Commerce and Ohio Public Utilities Commission, which was thought to have settled the rate question, has been reopened for hearing by the interstate body.

Complaint on the present fertilizer rates was brought by the traffic department of the federation more than a year ago and hearings held later showed that rates on fertilizer in this section was higher than those in the south and southwest. Early this spring it was announced that lower rates amounting to around a dollar a ton, had been ordered by the commissions.

"TINY" JOHNSON SWEEPS SHOTPUT, DISCUS EVENTS

Prospect High Star Gains Further Honors at State Meet

Columbus, May 28—Tiny Johnson, Prospect high school star athlete, continued his sensational showing here today in the Class B track and field championships of the Ohio School Athletic Association by winning both the shotput and the discus events.

Class B athletes were the only ones to compete this morning. Classes A and C will meet this afternoon at Ohio State University.

The following are the first five in the Class B events:

Shotput, (Prospect), first; Cook, (E. Palestine), second; Collette, (E. Palestine), third; Mercer, (Kent State), fourth; and Hunt, (Lakewood), fifth. Distance 48 feet 5 1/2 inches.

Discus: Johnson, (Prospect), first; Thomas, (Middletown), second; Kilbourne, (Kent State), third; Roberts, (Lakewood), fourth; and Wornout, (Hoyan), fifth. Distance 117 feet 6 inches.

FEDERAL COMMISSION DELAYS RADIO CHANGE

New National Set-Up To Become Effective June 15

Washington, May 28—Because of protest from all over the country, the federal radio commission today postponed from June 1 to June 15 the date on which the new national radio set-up will become effective.

Postponement was announced after a group of New York broadcasters had threatened to go into court for an injunction to compel the commission to grant a 60-day extension. Hearings during the next two weeks on their applications for changes in wave lengths.

UNREASONABLE

Interstate Commerce Commission Decision They Are "Prejudicial"

Washington, May 28—The Interstate Commerce Commission today decided the so-called lake cargo coal case by holding that the rates on bituminous coal from mines in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia in the Pittsburgh, Ohio No. 8 and Cambridge districts to lower lake Erie ports for transshipment by vessel were "unreasonable but not unduly prejudicial."

The rates on lake shipments from mines in the Fairmont district of West Virginia were found not unreasonable or unduly prejudicial, as alleged.

FINAL PREPARATIONS MADE FOR BALLOON RACE

Akron, May 28—Final preparations were being made today for the national balloon race Monday, Memorial Day, at the Akron-Cleveland Speedway. Most of the 15 pilots and their aides, who will fly, have arrived in the city.

Fair weather is predicted, following the first survey by air experts. Good weather is all that is needed to guarantee Monday's contest as the greatest balloon race ever held in America.

PROFILE SKETCHES ARE DRAWN OF PASSERSBY

A novel advertising stunt was introduced today, when an artist set in the window of the Bartlett Drug Store and sketched the faces of passersby. The profile sketches were drawn by a "Whistle" artist. "Whistle," a soft drink which has been out of the Marion market for the last six years, is now being bottled by the Coca Cola Bottling Works of this city.

Admission of Confession in Henry Case Damaging To Others Involved, Belief

Judge's Decision Considered Important Victory for State in Prosecution of Seven Men Held in Farm Thefts

As the result of Judge McKeef's ruling that the signed confession of Henry Henry, 20, should be admitted as evidence in his trial as a member of Marion County's farm robbery band, seven other men facing trial as alleged accomplices in the same band, their chances of acquittal greatly weakened, according to the general opinion expressed by attorneys today.

Henry was found guilty of grand larceny yesterday morning after the jury deliberated only 35 minutes. In his trial, which lasted all of Thursday and part of Friday, Henry's attorney sought to prevent the confession signed by Henry from going to the jury as evidence. They claimed that the confession had been made as the result of officers having promised Henry immunity and that as a consequence it was not voluntary.

Charge Third Degree
It was also alleged by Henry and other alleged members of the robbery band that Edward "Soapy" Shaffer, one of their number, was slapped by an officer while the prisoners were being questioned, their claim being that the purpose of the blow was to force confessions by "third degree methods."

All officers present at the questioning, which occurred in Chief of Police Thompson's office, testified that Shaffer was slapped because he had insulted his woman witness by "making her out a liar."

All of the officers, including Prosecutor Wiedemann, who was present at the questioning, which occurred in Chief of Police Thompson's office, testified that Shaffer was slapped because he had insulted his woman witness by "making her out a liar."

AUTO TRADE ACTIVE IN MAY, REPORT INDICATES

Licenses Issued for 580 Cars During Month; Receipts Total $3,818.01

Automobile activity in the automobile business in Marion County provided during May, according to the monthly report of license sales completed today by County Auditor Earl L. Thomas.

Licenses were issued for 580 cars during the month, an increase of 101 over the total for April. Receipts from the license amounted to $3,818.01, while in April the total was $2,624.50. Distribution of the $3,818.01, made today by the auditor, is as follows:

Cars for which licenses were sold were located as follows: City of Marion, 400; Green Camp, 2; LaRue, 2; Morrow, 1; Prospect, 20; Waldo, 3; townships, 82.

"BAD MAN" KILLED

U. S. Marine Slays Nicaraguan On Wild Rampage

Washington, May 28—Nicaragua has one less "bad man" today. A pistol duel between Gen. Pancho Caballero and Capt. W. P. Richards, U. S. Marine Corps, resulted in the killing of the bandit chief, according to advices to the navy department. Richards, a scout shot in self defense, the reports indicated.

Caballero was one of the two guerrilla chiefs who refused to disarm in the general disarmament forced by the United States. He is said to have been repudiated by both sides in the recent revolution. Yesterday, according to navy advices, he rode into the town of Chiniquigua and began to shoot up the place. (He is said to have been intended. Captain Richards went in quest of him and in the duel that followed shot Caballero dead. Richards was unharmed.)

A board of inquiry probably will be appointed to investigate and render a formal opinion in the case.

WILLIS AND FESS JOIN IN VIGOROUS PROTEST

Complaints Regarding Proposal of Revenue Bureau Made President

Washington, May 28—A vigorous protest against the proposed action of the bureau of internal revenue to consolidate the Cincinnati and Columbus internal revenue offices into one office at Columbus, and the Toledo and Cleveland offices into one at Cleveland, was lodged with President Coolidge today by Senators Willis and Fess, Republicans of Ohio.

Both senators expressed surprise that the bureau should attempt such an action without first extending "the courtesy of consulting somewhat" with the Cincinnati and Columbus offices. The plan was declared by them to be "ill considered and uneconomic."

TWO FILE FOR OFFICE OF CITY TREASURER

Russell Snare and Ralph E. Grubaugh Toss Hats Into Ring

Two candidates for city treasurer qualified for the Aug. 9 primary election yesterday by filing their declarations of candidacy with the Marion County Board of Elections.

They are Russell Snare, 491 Wilson-av. and Ralph E. Grubaugh, 200 Vine-av. Snare, a candidate for the Republican nomination, is employed as a teller at the Marion County Bank and Grubaugh, who seeks the Democratic nomination, is assistant cashier of the Marion Savings Bank. Both are newcomers in the local political field.

The office of treasurer is now held by Asa Queen, who will complete his second term Dec. 31.

Snare and Grubaugh are the first candidates to be for treasurer. Declarations of candidacy have been received by the board of elections for several other offices, including Mayor Hazen's entry for a second term. No other candidate for the mayoralty, either Democratic or Republican, has been announced.

DENIES CLAIM

Springfield, May 28—Finding no evidence to support his allegations of conspiracy to ruin him socially and professionally, a jury in common pleas court here today, denied the claim of Dr. Dwight I. Roush, Springfield physician, for $200,000 damages against Dr. Herbert Platter, secretary of the Ohio State Medical Board, Dr. R. R. Robinson, Dr. A. Richard Kent, Dr. Frank A. Hartley, Dr. William Ulies, Dr. Clarence H. Kay and Dr. John F. Browne.

The case went to the jury late yesterday, and the verdict, exonerating the defendants, was returned in two hours. Dr. Roush had charged the defendants conspired to ruin him following his use of a mechanical contrivance in the treatment of disease, and his advocacy of a vaccination method differing from the orthodox system. The suit followed the action of the state medical board in suspending Dr. Roush for a period of 30 days in 1924, for alleged unethical conduct. He also was dropped from the membership of the Clark County Medical Society.

Stars Defeat Dairies In Eighth Inning; Score 8-7

Eagles and Steam Shovel Office Lead Commercial League With Three Wins

Kappas Surprise Kiwanis and Knock Burson Out of Box To Win, 4-2; Eagles Trim K. of P.; Shovelers Trough Postoffice

RECREATIONAL ball teams representing the Eagles and Marion Steam Shovel Office today were leading the race in the Commercial League as a result of their third consecutive victories last night. Neither team has lost a game. The Eagles trimmed the K. of P. outfit, 5 to 1, and the Shovelers trounced the Postoffice, 10 to 2 in the games last night.

The Kappas pulled a surprise at Lincoln Park and topped the Kiwanis, 4 to 2, while the Marion Stars battled with the Dairy crew for eight innings to turn in their second win of the season.

With the score tied at seven all in the eighth inning, Gibson of the Stars walked to first, and with two out, crossed the plate with the winning run as Don McClintock cracked out a double.

14 Errors For Dairies

The Stars received only seven hits but scored eight runs while the Dairies got eight hits and were credited with only seven tallies. The Dairies made 14 errors while the Stars had only four blunders checked against them.

Kerr, pitching for the winners, struck out two men as Zosman of the Dairies batted seven strikeouts. Kerr led the Stars at bat with three hits. The Dairies scored two runs in the first frame but were led by their opponents in the second stanza, when the Stars scored three times. Dairies made two in the third one in the fourth, one in the sixth, and with the score standing 7 to 6 against them in the seventh inning, crossed the plate with the tying tally. The Stars scored three in the eighth, counting the winning run in the last of the eighth when McClintock connected for a two-bagger.

Burson and Torrence Took Turns on the Mount for the Kiwanis in a Desperate and Futile Attempt to Stop the Kappa Alpha This

Burson and Torrence took turns on the mound for the Kiwanis in a desperate and futile attempt to stop the Kappa Alpha this. Burson pitched for five innings but was relieved in the last of the fifth by Torrence when the Kappas scored the two runs that won the game. Torrence held the Kappas scoreless for the last two innings but the damage was done.

The Kiwanis received only six hits off of Kerr while the Kappas collected ten bingles. The Kappas scored twice in the first inning and led the way until the fourth frame when the Kiwanis came through with the tying run. The fatal fifth inning ruined the hopes of the Kiwanis. It was their first defeat.

Rank Struck Out Five Men and Burson Received Out Four Strikeouts

Rank struck out five men and Burson received out four strikeouts.

The Steam Shovel Office had little trouble with the Postoffice outfit. When the dust cleared away, the Shovelers were leading 10 to 2, having scored in every inning except the third. The Postoffice made its two lone runs in the sixth frame. Clark of the Shovelers allowed only four hits. Lingo, on the mound for the Postoffice, was touched for eight.

FOUR HARDING HIGH ATHLETES IN STATE MEET

Johnson, of Prospect, Is Expected To Topple All Records

Four Harding High athletes and three Marion County high school track and field men were to take part in the state track and field high school meet at Ohio Stadium, Columbus, today.

The Harding men were Hugh Shuttles, Gerald Zimmer, Marvin Jones, and Ed Knight. Shuttles is entered in the quarter mile. Zimmer will run the mile. Jones is a half-mile and Ed Knight will vault and high jump.

These four men placed third or better in their respective events at the Delaware meet a few weeks ago.

"Tiny" Johnson and Roush of Prospect High, and Earl Furness of Green Camp, represent the county schools.

Finals in the meet were under way today with nearly 500 athletes of more than 150 schools participating.

Three Divisions

The meet is divided into three divisions. Class A high schools, Class B high schools and Class C high schools. Finals in the field events in Class C and semi-finals in the three classes in the hurdles and dash events were held yesterday afternoon.

In the six Class C field event finals yesterday, five hold meet records were broken. Martin of Mercer County was the outstanding star of the day winning two first places and one second place. He broke the old record in winning the shot put at 42 feet 5 inches and the javelin at 108 feet 5 inches. He was second in the discus throw which was won by Keyes of Lorain. Sumner of Preble County took two first places, the broad jump at 30 feet 9 1/2 inches and the pole vault at 11 feet 7 inches. Sumner of Cuyahoga tied with Smith of Preble County in winning the high jump at 5 feet 8 1/4 inches.

Four District Champions

Four district champions are among the qualified athletes who were competing in the finals of the Class A, 100-yard dash event today. The champions include Maxey of Columbus East, Central District; Embury of Dayton Roosevelt, Southeastern District; Murray of Lakewood, Northwestern District; and Bennett of Marion, Central District.

Along with Robinson of Mansfield, champion of the Northwestern district, have also qualified to run in the 200 yard dash.

Johnson, of Prospect, is expected to topple the records in both the shot put and the discus throw in Class B, following his brilliant exhibition in winning both events in the Central District meet at Delaware, recently. His mark for the shot put was 40 ft. 10 in. and his discus throw was 123 ft. 10 in., both of which are better than the present Ohio high school records.

Johnson of Portsmouth, Will Meet Davidson of Youngstown, and James of Youngstown will meet Lindsey of Struthers, in the semi-final matches of the team singles today.

Columbus East has been matched to play Alliance in one of the doubles semi-finals. All finals in the doubles, singles and consolation matches will be played off today.

MONDAY'S GAMES ARE POSTPONED

All Association recreational ball games scheduled for Monday, Memorial Day, have been postponed, to be played at a later date, Manager Ed Meredith of the city leagues announced today.

TOLEDO OLDS MOTORS PLAY HERE SUNDAY

Former Elmore Team To Invade Lincoln Park for Revenge

WITH the weather outlook favorable and big crowds in the city, Lincoln Park will be jammed Sunday afternoon when the Marion Athletic Club take on the best team to appear here so far this season. They will meet the Olds Motors of Toledo, formerly the Elmore.

No game will be played here Decoration Day and Sunday will be the only chance for Lincoln Park fans to enjoy a hot battle.

The Elmore last year won 21 out of 30 games, losing two of the remaining six to the Athletics. The Motors this season are the same club playing under a different name but have an old St. Louis National League pitcher to strengthen the team.

The local club will have a new catcher in the lineup and possibly a new right fielder. If Hastings of Bellefonte will do the recruiting work while the new pitcher may be the man who caught here last week for Mansion. Both are heavy hitters.

The Athletics have yet to lose a game this season, having won three so far. They are practicing today for the battle Sunday and will be in excellent condition for another victory.

Mann will be on the mound for the locals. He has been going great so far this season and is improving with each game. Motors will be on third, Bacon on second, Binkley on first, and Roush will play shortstop. The outfield will consist of Rowan and Price and possibly Taylor, who played in the right field garden last week.

The game will be called at 2:30 with R. C. Macklin officiating.

LINDBERGH'S DAYS AT UNIVERSITY DECIDE CAREER

CHARLES LINDBERGH, AT THE AGE OF EIGHT

bergh earned an 'A,' his mother, Mrs. Evangeline A. Lindbergh, tells. One of his college friends says: "I never worked with a smarter man, yet he continually got falling marks." "He did more than the required amount of experimenting for his engineering course, but when he had finished he immediately lost interest and would not even hand in a report." A Champion at Marksmanship. Too One of Lindbergh's most cherished possessions is a trophy he won in a marksmanship contest at Wisconsin, his mother relates. He was very fond of shooting and he was considered an expert marksman even at Brooks-Kelly aviation school, San Antonio, Texas, which he later attended and shot in competition with seasoned army men. He was one of the "crack shots" of the Gun and Pistol Club at the University of Wisconsin.

It was while he was a student at Wisconsin that "Slim" felt the urge to fly. One day an airplane made a landing on the campus and a short time later Lindbergh returned to his home, announcing much to the amazement of his mother, "There's nothing in this mechanical engineering game. Two or three hundred dollars a month at the most. I am going to be an aviator—there's a future in flying."

Flying was a great deal more hazardous then than it is now, but Mrs. Lindbergh gave her consent. "That's what he wanted to do and I never have interfered with his plans," she explained—and added: "The remainder of his history, aviation and flying, is all his own. I had nothing to do with it, any more than I had with his other tinkering. I never sought to interfere."

Whatever may have been her misgivings, Mrs. Lindbergh never once attempted to sway her boy from his determination to become an aviator. Even during the terrific strain of the days just before Charles took off for Paris there was no weeping or wailing.

She knew and understood his intense love of the air and she believed wholeheartedly in the ability of a boy called "Lucky" to accomplish what no man had done before.

Injunction Granted C. D. & M. Expected To Halt Work at Least Year

With hostilities between the C. D. & M. Electric Co. and the state highway department over plans for construction of the crossing at Newman's at a standstill as the result of the court of appeals having granted an injunction stopping the state from proceeding with the work, traffic is again moving over its former course at that point.

with no prospects of any change for probably a year.

Grover C. Snyder, division engineer of the highway department, stated today that the road at Newman's has been placed back in the condition that existed prior to serving of the injunction several days ago.

A force of men under Snyder's supervision had started to build the crossing according to the state's plans early this week when the court of appeals action halted operations. Snyder started the work after Judge Seaford dissolved the injunction granted about a year ago in common pleas court and before the C. D. & M. had filed an appeal.

There is little likelihood that the case will be decided in the appellate court for several months and with prospects of an appeal to the supreme court.

afterward it is estimated that it will be almost a year before the controversy comes to a final decision.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT BAPTIST CHURCH STARTS ON PAGE 5

vacation. Upon graduation in 1925, Reverend Holiday became the full-time pastor. He remains with the church. The church and the school continued to grow. On April 20, 1927, 225 were present in the Bible School. Plans for a building fund were started. A building committee appointed consisting of D. C. Grando, F. A. Hughes, John H. Long, B. B. Baker and Paul Belmont. An architect presented two or three plans, and because there was to be an addition to the old building, the present plan and type of building seemed to be the only procedure. But because of the state industrial code the lot to the south had to be purchased. In order that there might be a 15-foot lot line. This was a difficulty, but the congregation undertook and brought the house and lot south of the church.

Damaged By Fire

On Sept. 13, 1926 it caught fire and had to be completely remodeled so that it is now strictly modern. Denote plans were developed. Mr. John Long, a trustee and member of the church was employed to oversee the program and as little help as possible was employed. A deserted Baptist church at Norton, was given to the congregation. The men of the church tore the old building down, and with the aid of the Millard Hunt Co. took and the Bradley Brothers Co. truck, both donated, the lumber was brought here classified and ready to be used in the new building. A frame building in front of Guy C. Stoltz's garage was also torn down by the men for half of the material and utilized in the building. Other materials were purchased and the men of the congregation labored practically every night and holiday from August 1925 until April 1926, at which time the present building was dedicated at the close of a week's service. To this program, people all over the city, and especially Trinity members, contributed.

The church now has 157 members, 220 in Bible school with an average attendance of 125 for the last three years. The estimated value of the property is $11,000. The church is thriving in every way and is happy to minister to the many in its community.

Thirty-one Men—

Thirty-one men cannot lubricate the ordinary car as quickly as a five year old child can care for yours—if you own a Packard.

The thirty-one chassis points requiring regular attention are bathed in oil—the right amount to a single drop—every morning from the driver's seat, by an operation as quick and easy as setting the hand brake.

The Packard "Instant" oiling system consists of accurately metering drip plugs at each oiling point, connected by concealed piping to an oil reservoir and gun on the dash. It delivers oil to the center of each bearing at one pull of a convenient plunger. Thus Packard makes chassis care so easy that neglect is virtually impossible; that wear of parts is practically eliminated—and precision is protected.

Friction is no respecter of either quality or price. A car without "Instant" chassis lubrication is not a modern car. Why pay for precision and then be unable to retain it except at a great sacrifice of time and money? Why not enjoy the mental and pocketbook comfort which comes with Packard ownership?

The Packard chassis oiling system is a completely built-in feature, and is found in its thoroughness and workmanship on no other car. May we show you how it provides freedom from squeaks and rattles; easy, comfortable riding and steering; reduction of maintenance expense and longer life for your car?

A telephone call will bring a Packard to your door.
